Scarsdale Police Department Achieves 10th National Accreditation Award!

Today, the Scarsdale Police Department was recognized with the Advanced Law Enforcement Accreditation Award from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA).

There are over 400 best practice law enforcement standards to which advanced CALEA-accredited communities must adhere. Scarsdale is one of the few communities in New York State, and the only community in Westchester County, to achieve this standard. This marks Scarsdale's 10th CALEA award since our Police Department's first national accreditation in 1990: a truly amazing accomplishment!

Under the leadership of Chief Maturro, our Police Department continues to be an agency that prioritizes transparency, diversity, and accountability.

“The Scarsdale Police Department’s commitment to excellence starts at the very top and permeates throughout the entire organization,” Mayor Veron commented, having added, “Our police officers demonstrate unwavering dedication to public safety; they model professionalism in all their interactions ... There is no other way to say it - the Scarsdale Police Department is simply the very best.”
